[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO MARCH 25.

EUROPE.

Reaction in favor of the Empire.

PARIS, March 24.—The reaction in favor of the Empire gains strength. Unless Thiers speedily restores order, the French may endeavor to find a way to Chiselhurst.

A Warning from the Germans.

LONDON, March 24.—Dispatches from Berlin alter the tones of the warning given by the Germans to Paris. The announcement, as officially reported, is to the effect that if any attempt be made by Parisians to the roar of the enciente, the Germans will re open fire upon the city. No time for such action is specified.

The Mayor of Lille has issued a proclamation raising volunteers to march on Paris.

The Echo Du Nord publishes a letter from Chevreron to Thiers, denying that Rouher is any way responsible for the disturbances in Paris.

Riotous Proceedings at Bucharest.

BUCHAREST, March 23.—While the Germans here were engaged in celebrating the birthday of the Emperor, they were attacked by a mob and several persons injured. The German consul was roughly handled by the rioters. Ministers and prefects of police have resigned.

The General Situation at Paris.

PARIS, March 24.—The Central Committee seized copies of the address to the Mayors, yesterday at the printing office. Since then the office has been guarded by a battalion of the friends of order.

The alarm yesterday, near the Bank of France, was caused by the seizure by the Loyals, of two cart loads of breech loaders, under care of agents of the Committee.

The Official Journal says the Central Committee asserts that numerous Bonapartists and Orleanists are attempting to bribe officials, and all persons suspected are to be delivered to the Committee.

An insurgent proclamation, just issued, says that Saisset has planned the complete reoccupation of the right of the municipal franchise and the election of officers of the Nationals, including a Commander-in Chief, and a modification of the maturity law.

The Official Journal says the Committee have decided on the occupation of all the matries of the arrondissements, and dissentients are tried upon arrest.

The trial of Clemenciau is ordered; also that of the dissenting journalists.

Menotti Garibaldi is appointed Commander of the Nationals.

Supporting journals demand the employment of a force.

A corps of mitrailleurs rallied to the cause of order.

A battalion of Franc-Tireurs attempted to seize money on deposit in a bank in the Rue Lille, but were opposed, and retired.

Several insurgent patrols were stopped. There has been no fighting.

Montmartrents and Garibaldians, with two guns, invaded Place de la Bourse yesterday. They demanded the surrender of the Mayoralty. Negotiations were resumed, the insurgents promising that the Mayoralty should remain in the hands of the actual occupants, providing the municipality should support communal elections and the election of a commandant of the Guards.

The Committee have entrusted military powers to Duval, Brunel and Endes, who are promoted to Generals to act in concert until Garibaldi, who has been unanimously chosen, arrives.

The Committee have received information stating that delegates from Marseilles, Lyons and Bordeaux, who quickly returned, will give the signal for an analagous movement.

Chanterel is appointed Commander of artillery. Montmartrents have redoubled their vigilance. They stop trains to Versailles and seize ammunition.

Further Details.

LONDON, March 24.—Saisset, General Langlais and Victor Scholicker, have undertaken to concentrate the loyal battalions of the National Guard in the Place de la Bourse, and to re establish staff quarters there, provisionally.

Saisset is disposed to pardon regular soldiers and Nationals involved in the emeutes, to restore municipal franchises, continue the pay of Nationals and revoke the laws in regard to payment of bills at maturity, and that he urges the Assembly to so legislate as to reconcile all the conflicting interests.

Other journals refute the charge which was made by the Rappel, that the first shot in the affair of Wednesday was fired by friends of order.

VERSAILLES, March 24.—Favre received two German dispatches, declaring it to be the duty of the Versailles Government to conquer anddition.

The Germans have entirely stopped withdrawing from France, and levy additional and cruel exactions.

LONDON, March 25.—Military services are entrusted to Bergeret, under the command of Place Vendome authorities.

The Council delegate has ordered octroi duties to be paid as usual, or energetic measures will be taken.

An agreement with the Commander and Mayor is reported for commercial elections on Thursday.

On Saturday the removal of barricades is expected.

To-night the Versailles Assembly passed a law for the payment of commercial bills.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—In the Senate, to-day, the Vice-President said he would order the resolutions of Mr. Sumner, about San Domingo, to be read under the precedent established in 1867, when, under the pendency of a general order, certain resolutions, introduced by Chandler, in reference to Maximilian, were received.

The resolutions are substantially the same as those offered by Sumner yesterday, with the addition of the one relating to the employment of United States naval forces in Dominican waters, were then read by the Clerk.

Sumner moved that the resolutions be printed and laid on the table for the present. He intended to offer them as an amendment to the resolutions in reference to the South.

The Vice President said the question as to whether the resolution would be received was yet to be decided by the Senate.

An amendment was also adopted for the sale of the Marine Hospital in the city of San Francisco.

Proclamation by the President Against the Ku Klux.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The following proclamation is issued by the President:

WHEREAS, It is provided in the Constitution of the United States that the United States shall protect every State in the Union on application of the Legislature—or of the Executive, when the the Legislature cannot be convened—against domestic violence; and

WHEREAS, It is provided in the laws of the United States that in cases of insurrection in any State, or obstruction to laws thereof, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, on application of the Legislature of such State—or Executive, when the Legislature cannot be convened—to call forth the militia of any State, or States, or employ such part of the land and naval forces as shall be adjudged necessary for the purpose of suppressing such insurrection, or causing the laws to be duly executed; and

WHEREAS, I have received information that a combination of armed men, unauthorized by law, are now disturbing the peace and safety of citizens of the State of South Carolina, and committing acts of violence in said State of a character and to an extent which render the power of the State and its officers unequal to the task of protecting life and property and securing public order therein; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature of that State is not now in session, and cannot be convened in time to meet the present emergency, and the Executive of said State has therefore made application to me for such part of the military force of the United States as may be necessary and adequate to protect said State and citizens thereof against domestic violence herein before mentioned, and enforce due execution of the laws, and as the laws of the United States require that whenever it may be necessary, in the judgment of the President to use military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith, by proclamation, command such insurgents to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes, within a limited time; now, therefore,

I, U. S. Grant, President of the United States, do command persons composing the unlawful combinations aforesaid, to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes, within twenty days from this date.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington on the 24th of March, 1871.

U. S. GRANT, President.

INFERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

SAN DIEGO, March 25.—Reports from Julian District say there is continued prosperity at the mines. Some twenty-five ledges are now being worked. All the mills are running. The King claims, three miles from Banner, are immensely rich, the best yet struck. The present population of the mining district is five hundred, and increasing rapidly.

ARIZONA.

More Indian Outrages.

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—The Prescott (Arizona) Miner of the 18th inst. says: The stage, carrying the mails and several passengers, while on the road from Tucson to Arizona City, was attacked by Indians, on the 7th inst., between Maricopa Wells and Gila Bend. One man was wounded. The Apaches stole the mails and run off the stock. Col. Sanford on hearing the news, started with seventy men in pursuit of the attacking party.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

Man Shot in Jackson County.

ASHLAND, March 26.—S. Booth was shot this morning by A. D. Benton, who fired four or five shots at him from a revolver, two of the shots taking effect—one passing through the upper portion of the breast near the center, and lodging against the skin of the back, the other entering the right wrist, and lodging near the elbow, causing a bad wound. Very little hopes are entertained of his recovery. Benton attempted to escape, but was arrested. His examination will take place Monday. A fight between them at Phœnix yesterday was the origin of the affair.

THE GRANT-SUMNER AFFAIR.

COMMENTS ON THE REMOVAL OF SUMNER FROM THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE.

From the Albany Evening Journal:

The majority of the American Senators have deemed it expedient that Mr. Sumner should no longer remain at the head of the Committee on Foreign Relations. If there were simply a difference of opinion between Mr. Sumner on the one hand, and the majority and President on the other, there would have been no change. But Mr. Sumner has drifted into an attitude toward the Administration precluding personal intercourse and involving personal antagonism. To continue him under such circumstances in a position where he is practically a part of the administration on foreign affairs was believed to be prejudicial to the public interests.

At the same time, we fully recognized the objections to Mr. Sumner's removal and we are not insensible to them now. The action is justifiable for the reasons we have stated. Whether it was politic, whether these reasons preponderated over those which pronounced against deposing the distinguished Senator, could better be judged by those immediately upon the scene, Republican Senators, equally sincere, patriotic and judicious, differed in judgment. But all must concur that Mr. Sumner has suffered himself to be drawn into an attitude most unfortunate for himself. Had he been content with a fair and candid opposition to measures which did not command his approval, none would have questioned the propriety of retaining him in the position he has filled with so much lustre, as none now question his honesty and ability. But when he suffered his feelings to betray him into an attitude of rancorous hostility he compelled the questions now presented.

From the New York Tribune.

The Senate of the United States is a deliberative body, which properly divides itself into committees among which the subjects which require its attention are primarily distributed for scrutiny and digestion prior to action thereon in its public sessions. It were absurd to contend that this body should not assign to those committees respectively the members whom the majority shall from time to time consider fittest for the discharge of their respective duties. We cannot, therefore, consider the removal of Mr. Sumner from the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Relations as an outrage or anything of the sort; yet we will not conceal our profound regret that any such action should have been deemed necessary or advisable. Mr. Sumner has foibles—as few have not—but he is eminently a Senator, and has earned the love and trust of the American people. We could wish that this seeming indignity might have been spared him.

From the New York Herald.)

Mr. Sumner, in fact, in his stronghold in the Senate, has stood somewhat in the position of master over the administration, and General Grant has been made so to understand it. For the sake of peace he quietly submitted to this state of things until his pet measure, the treaty for the annexation of the Republic of Dominica, as the first step to the acquisition of the whole of the splendid island of St. Domingo, was defeated through the implacable opposition of Mr. Sumner, as Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

This was that last package which breaks the camel's back. Nor can the result be wondered at, if, with Mr. Sumner's denunciations of this annexation scheme, we recall his vindictive arraignment of the President himself as the head of a corrupt speculative coalition. At any rate, from that day of the Senator's declaration of war the President resolved that it should be war until one or the other of the belligerents should bite the dust. So it is that General Grant has demanded the displacement of Mr. Sumner as the head of the Foreign Relations Committee in the reappointment of the Senate committees for the new Congress. And, in justification of this demand, it may be said that the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, from his necessary confidential official relations with the President, ought to be a recognized friend and not a declared enemy of the President. The Senate Chairman in question may be considered as de facto a member of the Cabinet, as the Secretary of State for the Senate on Foreign Affairs. Every foreign appointment and every treaty from the President is first referred to this Senate Committee, and the report of its Chairman on the nomination or the treaty, is, as the rule, accepted as the judgment of the Senate.

Hence the influence of Mr. Sumner in the rejection of the San Domingo annexation treaty—the ratification requiring a two-thirds vote. Hence the adoption by Gen. Grant of the Texas annexation plan, in connection with the San Domingo investigation expedition. Again, it may be a matter of the highest importance to the President to have a friend at the head of the Senate committee in view of the treaties expected from the Joint High Commission, and in view of a treaty in reference to the Darien canal, and view of other treaties in other quarters, upon all of which he will desire occasionally to confer confidentially with the Senate Chairman on Foreign Relations. This confidential interchange of opinions between the President and the Senate through its official representative is now arrested; and here is the difficulty of which the President, very naturally and properly, too, desires to be relieved.

[From the Boston Advertiser.]

What occasion is there for this tempest now? Is it Mr. Sumner's course on the questions in the hands of the joint commission? The entire Senate has followed his counsel in this respect, and shares the responsibility with him. Is it his opposition to San Domingo? That is a public and open question on which the friends of the President and the friends of Mr. Sumner are alike divided. Is it his personal relations to the the President and the Secretary of State? For the Senate to cashier Mr. Sumner on that account would be a needless sacrifice of its independence, from which Mr. Sumner would suffer no discredit. Whatever loss of sympathy he may have sustained by his extreme course on the San Domingo inquiry would be doubly restored to him by all who believe in fair and open warfare even with an enemy. To regard Mr. Sumner, for any of the reasons given, as if he had been trading in cadetships, or was unsound on the Ku-Klux question, or had committed some other iniquity, is a blunder which his colleagues will have abundant reason to regret.

Nor do we believe the country would sustain the attempt to prejudge the San Domingo question or any other seriously affecting our relations with foreign countries, by packing committees in advance solely or mainly with reference to them. Much as we have differed from Mr. Sumner, and unjust as he is in his intolerance of dissent, we believe the country is with him on the question of annexing any of the tropical islands while their governments cannot maintain themselves except under the shadow of our war ships, and their people have no means of expressing their free choice. And though there may be some gratification in fastening a personal slight upon Mr. Sumner, we do not think that, when the issue is fairly made up, the fact that Mr. Cameron speaks for the foreign committee, and Mr. Sumner simply as the Senator from Massachusetts, will materially alter the result.

A correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin, writing from Washington, states the whole case with more fairness and clearness than we have seen it elsewhere. We give the material portions of the letter:

As I write the contest impends in the Senate over the proposition to depose Senator Sumner from the head of the Committee on Foreign Relations. Whatever the result, it is an error to suppose that the movement against Sumner is unprecedented, or that it has no better basis than his opposition to the President's views on San Domingo question. We shall err if we assume that Sumner's displacement is part of the San Domingo fight—for, though the crisis has found its occasion in connection with the San Domingo question, some of those who are as decidedly opposed to annexation as is Mr. Sumner himself, feel that that the latter has provoked his own overthrow, by the manner of his opposition, and not by its matter.

THE CASE OF JOHN P. HALE.

In the 37th Congress, during Mr. Lincoln's first term, John P. Hale—an older soldier of the anti slavery crusade than Mr. Sumner—was deposed from his Chairmanship of the Naval Committee because of his personal quarrel with Secretary Welles, the head of the Navy Department. His displacement, though warmly opposed by his personal friends, resulted in no part, even, from the fact that Mr. Hale's relation with Secretary Welles were not of a character of convenient transaction of [illegible] was deemed sufficient reason for displacing him at the head of the Naval Committee by Mr. Grimes, of Iowa. And this was done, too, notwithstanding Mr. Hale's relation with the President, the Senate, and every Cabinet member, except Welles, were most cordial.

SENATOR SUMNER'S IMPEDIMENT.

The trouble with Mr. Sumner is that he has become supersensitive, almost to insanity—is dictatorial, imperious and overbearing, whenever and wherever his views on public questions fail to be accepted without question. So much has this state of mind or temper grown on him of late years, that not a few of his old personal or political friends believe him afflicted with a type of insanity, or at least monomania. In such a mental and physical state it is no wonder, perhaps, that his differences of sentiment with the administration have been expressed and emphasized in an offensive manner. It was his right to hold his own opinions, and to differ with the President as much as he might choose on questions of policy. There is no evidence that the Executive has ever questioned his right to such difference.

HE MADE PERSONAL INSULTS.

But the Senator has chosen to quarrel with the President about their differing views, and therein he has erred. In public and in private he is unsparing in denunciations of the President, declaring that he ought to be impeached, and in various ways placing it out of the power of President Grant to hold personal relations with him, even if the Senator was willing. So, too, Sumner has broken off his personal relations with Mr. Fish, by whom he has always been treated with the extreme of deferential politeness. Surely it is not fitting that the chairmanship of the Senate Committee, to which must be referred all treaty projects, should be held by any one who has, by his own act, rendered friendly relations between himself and the Executive, and the Secretary of State, impossible. Whatever becomes of the San Domingo question, Mr. Sumner can hardly achieve the honor of martyrdom in view of these facts, and no one will be foolish enough to essay a new party division because of the Senator's fall from a position which he has long honored, and which has honored him.

Theodore Tilton's new paper, the Golden Age, has the following sensible remarks on the frequent custom of attacking the Roman Catholic religion, as if it had no right to toleration on this continent:

We are perfectly willing to see the Roman Catholic Church stripped of its temporal power—just as willing as we would be to see the English Church stripped of the same power. Let us have a complete divorce of church and State. But we do not approve of the violent utterances which some Protestants, particularly clergymen, speaking at meetings held for Italian unity, think proper to put forth against the Roman Catholic religion. As a machine of politics, as a tyrannous hierarchy, the Roman Catholic power deserves not only no fellowship, but no toleration, by Republicans. But as a religion, Romanism has equal rights with Protestantism on American soil. And it would be more in accordance with the American spirit, it would better commend the liberality of our institutions to foreign lands; it would better illustrate our constitutional boast of religious toleration—if American Protestants, particularly at public meetings, would cease to talk as if they, and they only, owned the continent, and that the introduction of Romanism was merely a permitted evil. Justice is blind, and ought not see any difference between religions in a free land.

The German Republican Central Committee of New York has taken action to insure representation in the organization of the Republican party in that city. Greeley and Orton are to be called on through the Board of Officers, to add to the Board of inspectors in each District one member from the German Republican ranks, the name to be presented by the Central Committee.

Mark Twain, it is said, has received from his publisher $17,000 for his "Innocence Abroad," and the American Publishing Company, (Hartford) has made about $70,000 from its sale. Twain is reported to be engaged on a new book more eccentrically humorous than the last.

Afraid of an Honest Ballot

All the opposition papers are just now having their fling at the law recently enacted by Congress to secure orderly and honest elections The law is denounced in the most violent terms it is stigmatized as an effort to deny a free expression of popular opinion at the ballot box, and some of the organs go so far as to declare that it is the last iniquity that can be borne by a free people, and may lead to civil commotions and revolution The well-worn rhapsodical declarations of the last ten years are all made to do duty again in denouncing this measure

And what is the occasion for this bathos and pother? Simply that the Congress of the United States has enacted a law to protect the lawful voters of the country, so that they may not be overborne by crowds of organized repeaters and hired ruffians The law cannot interfere with an honest vote But it is a terror to those who have calculated to carry the next Presidential election by intimidation and violence at the South, and by repeating and false counting in the great Northern cities. A similar law cut off more than twenty thousand from the usual Democratic majority in New York City last fall, yet not one lawful voter has ever appeared to declare that he was deprived of his right of suffrage, or in any way hindered or obstructed in in his exercise of it The present law is the former one with such additions and amendments as experience has shown to be necessary It is not to be enforced by the military but solely by the civil authority of the United States. It does not place the control of elections in the hands of a single party out provides that the supervisors of election appointed under it shall be selected equally from the two parties But it places such a guard over elections that unscrupulous political managers like those of the Tammany Ring can no longer stuff the ballot-boxes full of repeaters' votes, and then cheat besides in the counting of them

No one who wants an honest election and is willing to yield to an honest expression of the public will at the polls is afraid of this law or will oppose it. Only those who have hoped to carry their points by rascality and fraud will cry out against it That such should complain is not astonishing, it only indicates their fear of results which the enactment of a wholesome law has awakened

Ship Lifting vs Dredging

Considerable sums of money have been spent in obviating impediments to navigation in the Willamet and Columbia rivers below [illegible] and no doubt it will be necessary to continue this work from time to time or to [illegible] and employ some other method where [illegible] desired result can be substantially attained

[illegible] from New York papers that a new [illegible] American origin, to overcome difficulties [illegible] and has been devised by an [illegible] engineer and put into successful [illegible] to one of the important harbors [illegible] coast, and notably at Savannah [illegible] Southern ports, where heavy tonnage cannot reach the wharves or depart from [illegible] half laden cargoes This plan is the reverse of that of deepening the channel, it is to [illegible] the vessel over the bar or other obstruction For this purpose a machine consisting [illegible] floating docks, built of wood or iron, [illegible] about one hundred and fifty feet [illegible] fifty feet wide, is employed. By [illegible] light tide water and air tight this machine [illegible] be rendered very buoyant When properly [illegible] and managed it will lift a thousand ton ship, with cargo, several feet, and [illegible] her to pass over any ordinary obstruction

The New York Shipping List says this plan [illegible] approved by many leading engineers and others competent to judge of its merits and has, moreover, been practically tested in raising sunken vessels, and if the charges for assisting vessels are not too high, it will prove a boon to the shipping and commercial interests The old system of removing these impediments to the free navigation of rivers and harbors are practical failures, although millions of dollars and years of labor have been expended in vain attempts at dredging The invention has been developed and improved by many years of practical test and example, and is now offered to the world through the medium of the Ship Lifting and Towing Company, recently incorporated under the laws of the State of New York.

It will be remembered that the bill to provide for the construction of the Oregon branch of the Pacific Railroad, from the North Bend of the Humboldt river in Nevada, to Rogue river valley, in Oregon, establishing connection between the Central branch of the Pacific and the Oregon and California road passed the Senate last spring, [illegible] efforts of Senator Williams The [illegible] never was not reached in the House [illegible] bill has again been introduced in the Senate by Senator Kelly supports it, but there is no probability that he can get it through It might have passed the House at once had it not been for the senseless opposition of Congressman Smith, backed by the Democratic party of Oregon This, it will be borne in mind, is the same measure for which Williams was so bitterly assailed by that party just before the last general election in this State As the people of Southern Oregon see their railroad prospects receding from them, they may, perhaps be able at last to understand who have been the friends of their interests Democratic opposition in Oregon to this measure is proving to have been a serious blow to the development of the State

The New York Times states that Tammany is making great exertions to secure the nomination of John T Hoffman for President The South that paper says, it is confidently anticipated, will go bodily for Tammany, and money will be freely poured into that quarter as soon as the signal is given from head quarters. Active exertions are already being made in the West, and several new journals have been started for the purpose of gradually getting the exalted truth into the minds of the people that John T Hoffman is the only man who can save the country The tax payers of New York kindly provide the money for this great missionary enterprise No man can fail to see that it would be a capital investment for the Democrats to spend a few millions in winning the next contest for the Presidency Then they could make the New York system national, and enlarge their schemes of plunder without check or limit.

The Herald speaks of the "bitter opposition made by Senator Williams to an effort whereby it was sought that the Government should pay its honest debts—the valid claims of Southern loyalists" Now inasmuch as the Herald is known to be in favor of repudiating the present national debt, what is the explanation of its anxiety to have the claims of so-called 'Southern loyalists paid? The explanation is easy That paper knows that nineteen-twentieths of those who are pressing these claims, or have them to press in case a favorable moment arrives, are ex-rebels, who, of course, will claim to be "loyalists" for the sake of getting the money The Herald would be rejoiced to see this class get the full amount of their claims But it doesn't want to pay a dollar of the debt that was incurred in putting down the rebellion It can use the word 'loyalist respectfully when speaking of these Southern claimants but it invariably sneers at the word when it is applied to the true loyalists of the country

The municipal election at Sacramento which took place on the 14th inst, was carried by the Republicans by an average majority of 500 for all their candidates The Union says "the Democrats made an especially strong fight, every available man being brought forward, while the various State and county officers and their clerks lent their aid at the polls and work upon the Capitol and Governor's mansion was stopped" The city and county of late years has generally voted Democratic.

OREGON

The upper Willamet has been much higher than since the great flood of 1862

A contract has been let to J D May to build a City Hall and engine house at Albany

A Salem paper reports the entertainment the other evening at the Chemeketa hotel at that place for the benefit of the Orphan's Home as very successful

The Forester says that the best time to transplant evergreens is in the early spring just before they begin to grow The roots should never be exposed to the sun or drying winds

A letter to the Statesman says Coos bay coal is in great demand in San Francisco, two banks are in full operation, and a third which promises to be better still in the production is being opened by Messrs Davis, Jones & Co

The financial exhibit of the State Agricultural Society is published in the Farmer From it we learn that the gate receipts at the last State Fair were $8 519 Entrance fees amounted to $1,471 10 The Treasurer reports only $81 18 on hand

THE TERRITORIES.

George Grooms, who came from London to this country in 1844 as an employe of the Hudson's Bay Company, died at Vancouver on the 19th inst

John Alden, carpenter of the bark Atlanta, which recently arrived at Port Gamble, disappeared on the 17th February, while that vessel was lying at San Francisco On the 14th March while the vessel was at sea on her way up to Puget Sound, his body was found in the hold. It is supposed that he fell through the hatches as his skull was crushed and his brains spattered on the keelson

A correspondent of the Vancouver Register puts the case in regard to "starving France" in this way What do you think of the state of affairs in France now? Do you regard the conduct of this people as such, in view of their recent misfortunes, as to entitle them to the active sympathy of other nations? Are we justified in stinting ourselves that we may thereby spare something to the "starving people of France" to strengthen them to cut each other's throats?

From the Olympia Tribune, March 22 We learn that Capt. Lawrence of the ship Dashing Wave, which arrived yesterday at Port Townsend from San Francisco, that on the way up one of his seamen met a horrible death On the 16th inst, in latitude 42° 45', longitude 127° 3, Wm Walters fell from the topsail yard to the main deck, striking on his head, and scattering blood bones, flesh, hair and brains in all directions He was unconscious from the moment of falling. Walters was a native of Ireland, 24 years of age.

An Olympia paper of the 22d gives this By the steamer this morning we learn that the extensive improvement concerning Port Townsend Bay, as a prospective terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad, is increasing Lands facing the Bay and adjacent thereto, are rapidly advancing in price, and changing hands daily A few months ago these lands were valued at from five to ten dollars per acre, now they are held at twenty dollars and upwards, with a prospect of soon reaching fifty dollars per acre. Port Townsend is certainly coming to the surface as a candidate for the terminus

The Olympia Tidal is speaking of the Territorial University at Seattle says Of course it has not yet got beyond the status of a good grammar school but, if properly supported and managed it will gradually work up to the position of Territorial University in fact as well as in name and then we shall not have our sectional feelings lacerated by the spectacle of youthful olum diggers going to Oregon to finish their education We should endeavor to support this institution and elevate it to its proper position as the center of our educational influence in Washington Territory Just now it is a grand burlesque to call it a University, though it is doubtless the best school between the North Pole and the Columbia river

PERSONAL NOTES

Nineteen Republican Senators dodged the vote on the question of removing Sumner from the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Relations

Ex Queen Isabella has at last surrendered all hope of restoration to the throne of Spain, has purchased a fine residence at Vienna, and intends to make that city her permanent residence.

Bismarck is said to have kept a complete diary of all public events and his personal relation thereto for the last 30 years, and he intends to prepare, as soon as the Continental troubles are over a history of his own times He is a clear, terse, and forcible writer, and his style is well adapted to such a work

The son of ex President Tyler, who edits the Montgomery (Ala) Adiertiser, is kind enough to admit that "the old Virginia soldier, General Winfield Scott, although he tarnished his honor and stained his sword by drawing it like a renegade against the land of his birth, still is not without reputation in former glorious services"

The Rothschilds are said to have lost from $50 000 000 to $75 000,000 by the result of the Franco German war They all believed at first that the French would be victorious but two weeks after the Germans had crossed the Rhine, they saw their mistake and made new investments which prevented them from losing three as much as they would have done had they not corrected their blunder in good season

A Washington dispatch of the 13th states that many observant politicians express the opinion that General Logan will be the most formidable competitor Grant will have for the Presidential nomination next year A strong movement in his behalf is organizing in the West and extending throughout the country. The political organization known as the Grand Army of the Republic, of which Logan is Commander in Chief, furnishes a nucleus of the movement Logan has no knowledge of the attempt to make him a candidate, and it is made without consultation with him

A Chicago dispatch of the 20th inst. contains this One of the most remarkable cases of successful elucidation of a mysterious murder and detection of the supposed perpetrators in the history of crime was made public this morning On January 2d, 1871, the body of a man ascertained to be that of M W Gumbleton, a stranger in the city was found floating in the lake near the mouth of the Chicago river, the body exhibiting marks of violence The Coroner's inquest developed the fact that Gumbleton was recently from Baltimore and had a considerable amount of money including one draft on that city for $7 800 The jury came to the conclusion that he was murdered, and the case was put in the hands of detective Joseph Dixon of this city, who soon became convinced that a young German named Zeigemyer, who had been the companion of Gumbleton in Baltimore and came to this city with him, was the murderer, and he finally succeeded in tracing him to his native place near Bremen Germany A description of the man was sent to the United States Consul, Hanson, and yesterday a cable dispatch was received from him by the Superintendent of police here, saying "Man arrested and awaiting transportation" He will be sent for at once Zeigemyer successfully represented his victim both here and in New York until he had converted all his assets into money

Oregon Glaciers
PORTLAND March 25 1871

EDITOR OREGONIAN

SIR In an article headed "Oregon Glaciers," which appears in this morning's issue of your journal the writer apparently questions my knowledge of glaciers.

Allow me to say that I was a member of the Alpine Club of London, for a number of years a club, one of the qualifications of which is that a candidate must have ascended a peak or crossed a snow covered summit at least 13 000 above the sea level I have made several journeys on Mt Blanc the highest mountain in Europe, and twice reached the summit During these journeys I travelled on every glacier having its origin in the mountain, and have ascended other high peaks in the Alps I have also sketched and am consequently intimately acquainted with the main features of glaciers, and in the year 1868, I brought out an illustrated work on the scenery of Mt Blanc, entitled 'Scenes from the Snow Fields," which was published by Messrs Longman & Co, of London Professor James Forbes, who is well known to the scientific world as the author of "The Viscous Theory of Glaciers," and for his researches on the subject generally, refers to the above mentioned work in the second of two articles on glaciers which he wrote for 'Good Words,' an English monthly magazine these appeared in June and July, 1862 He says that "the beautiful illustrations of Mr Coleman's Scenes from the Snow Fields of Mt Blanc, a work of great interest, have given for the first time an accurate representation of these astonishing scenes'

I therefore claim to be able to distinguish a glacier when I see one and to reiterate my statement as published by you some weeks ago—that I first noticed glaciers, meaning 'true' or live' glaciers (a distinction not known to science, at least not made by English writers) in August, 1866 in the company of Mr John Tennent and Mr. John Bonnett, both well known citizens of Whatcom county, Washington Territory and subsequently in August, 1868, in the company of Capt Stratton, of Port Townsend, Puget Sound, Mr David Ogilvy, of Victoria, and the above named John Tennent I also beg to state that Mt Baker and Rainier bear all the well known and familiar features of the great mountains in Switzerland, which have all of them glaciers

One word as to neve There is a difference between Neve and Glazier which some do not seem to understand The neve is the vast district immediately surrounding the highest peaks consisting of reservoirs of mingled snow and ice, a semi fluid mass in various states of transition from snow to ice this is caused by alternate thawing, freezing and pressure. The mass sinks into itself by its own weight, this, pressing down on the lower portion, combined with the pressure from behind resulting from the whole mass gradually moving forward on an incline, becomes converted at length into firm solid ice toward the lower part of the mountain, and forms the glacier, strictly so called, which is always found below the snow line, certainly below the neve, being its outlet It will thus be understood that without neve a glacier could not exist or be formed in the first instance as also that as is the area of the neve so is the area of the glazier

There are other features pertaining to neve to enter into which would perhaps, take up too much of your valuable space

Yours very respectfully,
EDMUND T COLEMAN

Plans of the New Penitentiary

The Salem Statesman furnishes the following information relative to the new penitentiary building

At the request of Mr G W Rhodes, architect for the new Penitentiary, we have visited his office in the Opera House building and examined the plans and drawings of elevation he has prepared The general plan is taken from the State Prison building of the State of Maine but in respect to architecture Mr Rhodes has improved the appearance by the exercise of his skill and taste, and a Mansard roof and bell tower replace the plainer finish of the original design, and the style of the building is made to correspond The plan contemplates a central building containing guard rooms on first floor Chapel above with kitchen in the basements which structure is to be four stories in height including basement This building will be 62 feet wide with wings containing the cells and corridors surrounding them, the wings are 42 feet wide and 75 feet long the whole length of main building and wings 212 feet height of main building from ground 60 feet The wings are to consist of a basement in which will be located the prison dungeons above is a single story 32 feet high containing a lower tier of masonry cells with three tiers of iron cells above them which are reached by iron stairs and balconies which surround each tier of cells. There are 22 cells in a tier so that each wing will accommodate over a hundred prisoners The erection of a third prison wing will be left to the future should we ever be so unfortunate as to have more than two hundred criminals to house The main building and two wings are to be erected now also a wing which will reach from the center beyond the prison walls and present a handsome architectural appearance to the world The room is to contain in the rooms nearest the prison, the officers of the institution, while a handsome and even elegant, front building is to jut out wider than the offices which are to be a connecting link between it and the main prison It is front edifice will be for the residence of the Wardens and their families, and is to be handsomely finished for their use, with basement, two upper floors and a Mansard roof story above them The drawings and plans have required a great amount of labor, and are finely executed by Mr Rhodes, whose card professional will be found in this issue, and who is favorably known here as architect and builder of the Opera House The plumbing of this extensive pile of buildings will be a work of considerable magnitude, and is to be all done by Mr Michael Hurd, who did the plumbing for the Chemeketa Hotel Water is to be introduced into every one of the cells, and hot and cold water will be introduced through the rest of the building Steam heating apparatus and steam for the cooking will also add much to the luxuries of this department

Speech by the Emperor of Germany

A Berlin dispatch of March 21st says that the German Parliament was opened on that day by the Emperor William who delivered the following speech on the occasion

When I saw the German Reichstag for the first time since the glorious but trying struggle which Germany has victoriously prosecuted for independence I am compelled first to give thanks to God for historic successes, with which He has pleased the faithful unity of our German allies, the heroism and discipline of our armies, and the devotion of our people We have what our forefathers struggled for—the unity of Germany and the security of her frontiers Our conviction of the future unity was veiled though ever present The enthusiasm of our people rent the veil when the fatherland was threatened The nation unanimously rose in her defense and traced its firm will in indelible characters on the battlefields of France to remain a united people The spirit animating Germany pervades her culture and morals, and constitution, and her armies will guard against the abuse of acquired power Independent Germany respects the independence of others

This fiery ordeal through which we have just passed is a reliable guarantee of Europe an peace Powerful and self reliant Germany now breathes to you the regulation of her own affairs as a satisfactory heritage It is an especial gratification to Germany that the Conference at London in a peaceful spirit has achieved the work of conciliation It is now the task of the Reichstag to heal the wounds and to confirm the thanks of the fatherland to those who have paid for victory with their blood and lives and let the Reichstag, co-operate with the Government its constitutional mission perfecting the laws for the welfare of the people and the Constitution The arrangements contemplated by the Government involve the provisions of the separate treaties made in November with the Southern States, which will receive in a new Act to be submitted to the Reichstag a better confirmation and a more harmonious rendering The amount to be contributed by each State toward the current expenses of the Empire demands legal settlement and sanction, is to be given to separate laws for Bavaria, which will be introduced The war indemnity will be disposed with your approval, in conformity with the requirements of the Empire The just claims of the Empire, on account of the war will be laid before you as soon as possible The position of the recovered territory renders necessary special legislation which will be speedily brought to your attention Pensions for soldiers and support for the widows and orphans of the war are to be provided for, and measures to that end should be made to apply to the whole Empire, for all fought with equal devotion and deserve equal honor and reward May the re establishment of the German Empire be a promise of future greatness, may the war fought so gloriously be followed by equally glorious peace, and our people henceforth brave and victorious in the universal struggle for the fruits of peace

Cheap Water Pipe.

"THE ASPHALTUM PRESSURE PIPE COMPANY of San Francisco, having purchased of the patentees the sole right to manufacture on this coast are now making as article at their works, at Alameda Point, that will supply the general want of a cheap and durable water pipe The invention originated in France where these pipes are extensively used as well as in Germany, in fact, all over Europe, almost entirely superseding for all ordinary purposes the use of iron. It is no new thing having been in for twenty years

Its Durability.

Being impervious and insensible to atmospheric influences or chemical properties of the earth it never changes and is consequently much more durable than iron which corrodes and in time leaks

It is a Non-Conductor,

And will not freeze except at a remarkably low temperature and even then its expansive power is greater than that of frozen water In warm weather it acts as a cooler for water passing through it

Neutrality to Acids and Alkalis.

This pipe is not effected by acids and alkalis nor is it affected by galvanic currents—consequently is invaluable in conducting telegraph wires under ground through tunnels and under bridges

Elasticity.

The elasticity of this pipe prevents its bursting from outward shocks or concussions The interior of the pipes being glazed are as smooth as porcelain, and consequently are never clogged by adhering sediment

Lightness.

The mean weight of these pipes to iron is as one to five which not only facilitates handling but reduces the cost of transportation

Laying the Pipe

Is a simple matter—can be laid by any laboring man of ordinary intelligence but the Company If required, will always furnish a competent person, free of expense to oversee the proper laying of the pipe Contracts taken for any required length of pipe from water or mining companies and warranted to stand according to contract

Pipe Under Pressure.

Can be seen at the office of the Company We are the only parties manufacturing this pipe on the Pacific Coast under this patent All other offered is spurious and an infringement

Cheapness.

The cost when laid including connections is about one quarter that of lead and one half that of iron

We manufacture this pipe in lengths of twelve feet, and ship it every where, by all sorts of conveyance—no special care being required We manufacture it of any size from one to twelve inches

Pressure.

We manufacture according to the pressure required from 1 to 650 pounds to the inch and guarantee it to stand the pressure

Prices

1 inch	10 cents per foot
1½ inch	20
3 inch	30	For pipe capable of resisting a pressure of 150 lbs to the square inch.
4 inch	40
5 inch	50
6 inch	60
8 inch	$1 00
10 inch	$1 25
12 inch	$1 50

The asphaltum being made of a combination of paper canvas & asphaltum length not to exceed five feet should be modified asphalt pipe in lengths of four feet

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 27, 1871.

CITY.

THE FALL OF A BUILDING.—About four o'clock yesterday afternoon the immense building erected by M. A. Myrick & Dodge, for a skating rink, on the corner of Fourth and A, fell with a tremendous crash. The wind was blowing some, but not near so violently as it did several times during last week, and the fall can hardly be attributed to that cause. The building was sixty feet wide, under a single peaked roof, and for such a weight the timbers used seem not to have been strong enough. The central supports of the roof were only taken out Friday noon, up to which time everything had appeared to be all right. Since that time, however, the immense weight of the roof had probably settled all the walls so as to break the fastenings and finally crush the under structure. The sheathing and part of the shingles were on the roof. The entire building, whose walls gave way, fell to the southward, and the lumber was broken and split in a perfect wreck. At the time of the fall, two of the McLeran brothers were in the interior or near the door, and one or two small boys were also inside. One of the McLerans escaped unhurt. The other, Frank, was injured badly, as was supposed when taken away from the place. The little boys who were in the building were not injured at all, which seems almost miraculous. They must have slipped down between the sleepers the floor not having been yet laid; otherwise they must have been inevitably crushed. The loss will amount to $1,500 to $2,000, according to the amount of lumber which may yet be saved. We are not in possession of such information as to enable us to determine whose is the loss—whether builders or contractor.

A REMARKABLE TRIP ON A DOWN GRADE.—On Saturday, a boy driving a team up the Marquam mountain road, met with a decided adventure. The road being muddy, the team crowded so near the edge of the sidehill grade as to run the wagon off, which, of course, commenced rolling over and over, dragging the team over also. The boy and horses went rolling over and over down a steep grade, a distance of a hundred yards or more. When the boy who had jumped out at the start, went down the hill in search of his property, he found the wagon in one place, a ton of harness here and another bit there, one of the horses was lying down, resting after the fatigues of his journey; the other was quietly eating grass. We asked our informant if the load was spilled out of the wagon, and he couldn't tell! He didn't hear the boy say!

A MISSIONARY PREACHER.—The congregation worshiping in the Unitarian Church have been favored for the past four weeks the presence and effective ministrations of Rev. Mr. Kimball, of Illinois, who is here on this coast for a season as missionary for the General Association of that denomination. From what we learn of him a most happy choice has been made for the present week laid out. Those who were so fortunate as to hear the two discourses of yesterday testify to an rare a combination of logical acumen and spiritual depth and earnestness in the new speaker as in any who has visited us. Mr. Kimball reserves for the upper Columbia in a day or two and after preaching at Walla Walla and the Dalles will take his departure for the Sound country, where he will preach probably through most of the summer.

A DENTAL FEE.—Some time ago we published a description of an "improved method for securing dental fillings," of which Dr. C. H. Mack of this city claimed to be the inventor. A day or two thereafter another dentist of this city published a re-action claiming that the device was not new. Of the merits of this controversy we know nothing. We have, however, just been shown a letter from Dr. Mack from the Commissioner of Patents, March 8th, 1871, enclosing the report of the "Examiner" in the Patent Office, from which the following is an extract, relating to the right of the applicant for a patent, and which seems to be conclusive as to the priority of Dr. Mack's claim. Says the "Examiner:" "Upon further examination seems fully entitled to the first claim for any and all sorts of pin retentions for filling teeth."

UNION ASSOCIATION.—There will be a meeting at the Police court room this evening of veterans of the Mexican war, for the purpose of organizing an association auxiliary to the "Association of Veterans of the Mexican War" of San Francisco, of those who were connected with the Oregon troops, now living here, we hear of the names of Major Tilton, who was in command of the United States Voltigeurs, in Mexico; Samuel H Hamilton, Captain in the First Regiment Ohio Volunteers; Lloyd Brooke, of the Pay Department; Colonel Vic. Trevitt, of the Second Regiment Ohio Volunteers and the famous "Battalion" of Mounted Rifles, and J. H. Wilson, one of Colonel Stevenson's California regiment. There are probably many others who would be known.

A GREAT WATER PIPE.—On Saturday we examined some of the "Asphaltum pressure pipe," manufactured at San Francisco, and on sale at the store of E Martin & Co. It is made of canvas, paper and asphaltum, the first two materials being thoroughly cemented by the latter, so that the whole is not only impervious to water and air but has all the essential requisites of a cheap and convenient conductor—durability, elasticity, lightness, strength, etc. It is also much cheaper than iron in its first cost, and being very much lighter, can be shipped at much less expense. It is made to withstand any pressure from one to two hundred pounds to the square inch. For all further inquiries may be made at E. Martin & Co's.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of F. P. Hosford, a member of the East Portland Cornet Band, took place yesterday. The Portland Band, under the leadership of Mr. John Everest, volunteered its services for the occasion, for which the East Portland band desire to return their sincere thanks.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Portland desire to return their sincere thanks to the Vieuxtemps Brothers for their kindness in rendering music on the evening of each lecture of the course just finished.

ARRIVAL OF MCCOY AT HONG KONG.—We have been shown a letter from J. F. McCoy, Esq., to a gentleman of this city, written at Hong Kong, January 30th. The Edward James, in which he sailed from this port was 73 days on her passage out, arriving at Hong Kong on the 25th January. Mr. McCoy will return on her, if he does not remain longer by steamer. The James will hardly reach here till late in May or early in July.

SNAKE RIVER STEAMER.—The little steamer Shoshone is now running as follows: Leaves Portland every Monday at 1 P. M. for Monticello, near Multnomah for Pamphrey's Landing every Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings, going through to the old Umatilla landing every Wednesday and Saturday. Returning Pamphrey's every Sunday morning for Portland.

EXPORTS OF PRODUCE.—The Idaho took away the following articles of Oregon products: 2,442 boxes apples, 43 cases bacon, 92 beef hides, 10 cases dishes, 114 boxes eggs, 7,882 qr. sacks and 1,006 M. sacks (3,224½ bbls) flour, 196 sacks onions, 39 bbls pork, 643 sacks potatoes, 20 cases prunes, 144 gallons tallow, 1 bale furs, 5 bundles sheep skins, 4,325 sacks wheat. Total, 300 tons.

LIVELY EMIGRATION.—On Saturday the Oneonta for the Cascades, took from this city 180 head of cattle, 40 horses, and a number of emigrant wagons, with families and household goods, destined for the pastures green of Eastern Oregon.

PORTLAND LIBRARY.—The following new books have been added to the Portland Library: The Descent of Man, by Darwin; Eminent Women of the Age; The Victory of the Vanquished, by the author of the Schonberg Cotta Family.

SALMON TRAP.—It is said that during the late high water salmon ran up the chute of Asylum mill, at East Portland, and the water going down has left them in the pond. They are an unlucky lot.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Wm. Kapus, Collector of Customs, for Alaska, arrived here by the steamer Pacific. He has been East since February 1st, and is now en route to Sitka. He will go by the first steamer for that port.

WHEAT FOR EXPORT.—There are about eight thousand sacks of wheat at Harrisburg awaiting transportation to this city, a part of the cargo for the ship Prince of Wales.

REASON OF THEM.—The Fannie Troop hereafter will leave this city at half-past 7 A. M., and Monmouth at 5 A. M. for return trip.

AMUSEMENTS.

ONE PIECE THEATER.—The house was literally crowded Saturday evening to see the tragedy of "Lucretia Borgia." This is one of Mrs. Bates' greatest characters, and though she has again and again played it here the announcement of the drama never fails to get a good house. This fact in itself is a higher compliment to Mrs. Bates' personation of the wicked and vengeful duchess than any paragraph of ours. In the two poisoning scenes she rises indisputably to greatness—in the portrayal of the contradictory passions of pride, anger, revenge, tender love and mortal anguish. The play gives her excellent opportunity for the display of her versatile powers, and she never fails to enter so into the spirit of her personation as to render it almost terribly real. The entire play was exceedingly well put on the stage Saturday evening. It will be repeated to-night, probably for the last time.

THE COURTS.

SATURDAY, March 25, 1871.

PASSENGERS FOR CALIFORNIA.—The N. P. T. Co's steamship Idaho sailed for San Francisco at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The following is her list of passengers: C W Wright, F A Frost, M Jeffs, D H Taylor, S M Wallace, Chas Collins, A Dunker, H L Ackerman, M Hester, J T Marris, Ah Kien, J Cole, Col. Chapman, D O Frost, F A Sawyer, J R Foster, F F Adams, A Collins, Mrs Lucinda Wright, L Barman, L R Grim, C A Durning, Wand Wai, Marie Atkerton, Mrs J E Rockway, W. F & Co's Messenger, and 21 in the steerage.

FOR ASTORIA.—The steamer Varuna, Capt. Gray, will go down the river this morning, having the repairs to her engines completed. She will ply between ports near the mouth of the Columbia, or engage in towing as opportunity may offer.

SPRING OPENING.—Mrs. George H. Clarke, corner First and Washington Streets, having lately arrived from San Francisco, where she has been engaged in selecting a large and complete stock of millinery goods, would announce to her friends and customers, that she is prepared for a grand opening of the same on Monday, March 27, 1871. Employment will be given for two good milliners.

We say it now as we've said it before,
That C. H. MACK'S GROCERY STORE
Is where you can make the best pickings
Of all sorts of game, and of chickens,
Of fresh butter and bouncing big eggs,
And fish of all sorts, dried or in kegs;
Of the best kind of bacon and hams,
And of pickles and jellies and jams;
Vegetables and fruits of the season,
And everything good that in reason
You can ask or wish to make a good dish.

SPRING STYLES.—KOHN & HISHEL, as usual, are the first to fill their store with the new Spring Styles of Clothing and Furnishing Goods. Their stock is very large, and their goods of the best quality, and latest styles. Messrs. Kohn & Hishel buy their goods in large quantities, consequently, get them at low rates and can afford to sell cheap, which they intend to do.

They respectfully invite their friends and patrons to give them a call.

Do you desire a handsome Suit of Clothing? If you do, go to ISAAC BARMAN, corner First and Alder streets, Odd Fellows Temple.

J O'NEIL & Co have just received and opened one of the best assorted lots of Gents' Furnishing Goods and Clothing ever brought into this city, consisting of all kinds of Clothing, Collars, Cuffs, Gloves, Ties, Hosiery, and a large invoice of the SPAN SHIRT, the best fitting and best made Shirt now worn. Their goods are of the latest styles and choicest patterns. Persons wishing spring goods and styles should not fail to give them a call. They cannot but be pleased with both their goods and prices.

☞ Catarrh is a common disease, so common that snuffing and "hawking" reach you at every turn. Your foot slips in its nasty discharge, in the omnibus or in church, and its stench disgusts at the lecture or the concert. The proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offers $500 reward for a case of Catarrh he cannot cure. Sold by druggists or send sixty cents to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 123 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive it by mail. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. The genuine has Dr. Pierce's private U. S. Government Stamp on it.

Invigorate the Responsible Organ.

The stomach is the responsible organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every nerve and fiber is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved. The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia. Nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them, no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? Unquestionably they can. No dyspeptic has ever taken Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it—in eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. The vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you wish to fool with the dyspepsia, try the pharmacopœia prescriptions. If you want to root it out and prevent its recurrence, take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for indigestion without being benefited, the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

A Strip of Blue.

BY LUCY LARCOM.

I do not own an inch of land,
But all I see is mine,—
The orchards and the mowing-fields,
The lawns and gardens fine.
The woods my tax collectors are,
They bring me tithes divine,—
Wild scents and subtle essences,
A tribute rare and free;
And, more magnificent than all,
My window reaps for me
A glimpse of blue immensity,—
A little strip of Sea.

Richer am I than he who owns
Great fleets and argosies;
I have a share in every ship
Which sails the inland breeze
To loiter on yon airy road
Above the apple-trees.
I freight them with my untold dreams,
Each bears my own picked crew;
And nobler cargoes wait for them
Than ever India knew,—
My ships that sail from far the East
Across the outlet blue.

Sometimes they seem like living shapes,—
[illegible] ample of the sky,
[illegible] calmly coming down
[illegible] Pearce, which is close by;
[illegible] from by familiar beaches,
[illegible] by one draws nigh,
[illegible] white, so light, so spirit-like,
[illegible] moist mists they blended
[illegible] wings of the unknown
[illegible] reclaimed from gloom
[illegible] life's beautiful sea
[illegible] sailing room.

[illegible] grows a very
[illegible] its sight,
[illegible] and west, its north and south,
[illegible] out from morn to night;
[illegible] the warm caressing shore,
[illegible] shade and light,
[illegible] greater than the widest
[illegible] with eyes unseen.

[illegible] of eternity,—
[illegible] sweeping garment-folds,
[illegible] of that vessel of glimmering sea,
[illegible] for, and hold.

[illegible] like flakes of riddle jewel,
[illegible] upon the mist;
[illegible] are broken precious stones,—
Sapphire and amethyst,
[illegible] from celestial basement walls,
[illegible] unsetting blessed.
[illegible] through the inmost gates of space,
[illegible] where the gray stars drift,
[illegible] yielding infinite, my soul
[illegible] a vessel swift;
[illegible] not her anchorage
[illegible] wonder azure rift.

[illegible] a little child;
[illegible] God's door
[illegible] hand of chrysoprase;
Above the vast temple floor,
[illegible] glory of the dome
[illegible] head before.
[illegible] silvery, O God, is home,
Height or depth to me;
[illegible] my footstool green
[illegible] I to be;
[illegible] is opened to my need
[illegible] glimpse of thee.

The Uses of Greek and Latin.

[illegible] the use, say money-seeking critics, [illegible] our boys to learn languages which [illegible] speaks? Some excuse may perhaps [illegible] ideal for Latin; it enters indirectly, but [illegible] into many modern matters. But [illegible] can be said for Greek? The literature [illegible] belongs to the past—the nations [illegible] the societies of which it speaks have passed away. The social and political feelings it describes are numbered among the things departed. Then why live among "the dead?" The answer is that the literature is alive, and [illegible] the deadness of its language is an inviolable [illegible] for the purpose of education. [illegible] languages are learnt by the ear. They [illegible] are learned mechanically. Their possession [illegible] denote much intellectual development in those who can speak them. [illegible] any a clever little boy, many an untutored [illegible] can speak two or three languages, and yet has a small demand may have been able on the intellect for acquiring them. [illegible] there is an absence of thinking in the process which strips it of all rational value. Modern languages are not difficult enough to compel [illegible] earnest to look into the machinery of language. [illegible] less into the thoughts of the [illegible] so as to grasp his meaning. [illegible] speaking of their usefulness in [illegible]-life our business now is with general [illegible] are here is to say that they are too easy [illegible] as instruments for the work required. [illegible] is no gymnasium at least hard [illegible] enough. No. The run of the expression [illegible] in the manner of writing common [illegible] not dwell on ideas. The meaning [illegible] that many without much investigation [illegible] easy to [illegible] what is said. Nor are [illegible] general relations of the language observed [illegible] the student there is too weak a call for [illegible] exercise to develop the faculties.

It is precisely the reverse with a dead language, especially a language whose construction [illegible] with that of a modern [illegible] Every part of it is obscure; it must [illegible] learned by rule the relations first of grammar [illegible] must, be carefully observed. Meanings and meanings assigned to a word in the dictionary, thought and judgment [illegible] to select the one which suits the passage. The laws of thought are thus gradually inculcated and if a good teacher conducts the operation, every blunder of the student becomes an occasion for much intellectual exercise in correcting it. The final result ought to be—and will be, if the teacher understands his business—the assurance gained by the scholar that he has mastered the words of the writer; and this means insight, assurance built on intelligence and education. The mind [illegible] whether it animates the little [illegible] and forts, or is stirred by the [illegible] gazes at university honors; is [illegible] every moment to perform acts [illegible] and judgment, to discriminate [illegible] to carry out the very processes [illegible] wanted in the inductive and [illegible] methods. In a dead language, [illegible] and is strange—where association [illegible] consciously bring up the sense of [illegible] where the mode of thinking is [illegible] the links that bind words together [illegible] to be searched for at the intervals [illegible] several lines, and can be found only [illegible] repeated application of the laws of logic [illegible] grammar—to master the thoughtful and [illegible] sions of a great writer is an education[illegible] efficiency of supreme efficiency.—Blackwood's February.

[illegible] or Words.—Not one in a hundred [illegible] educated people know the [illegible] of one in a thousand of the words [illegible] use. We know that our numerous [illegible] displacement of the [illegible] words. And a few [illegible] of our sciences take their [illegible] as well as their names, from those [illegible] Arabs. Moors introduced when they [illegible] and when they evacuated, [illegible] Spain, and, for that [illegible] and Portuguese America, [illegible] the permanent impress which Moorish architecture left on the world. [illegible] owes, if not wholly the fact, [illegible] designation of chemistry—(al [illegible] and Algebra (al debr.)

[illegible] stories of knowledge—were hidden in [illegible] and library of the Alhambra, which [illegible] Cisneros burned! Manuscripts to [illegible] number of eighty thousand volumes! We [illegible] know but that these manuscripts contained the germs, if not the elaborations, of a [illegible] part of what we call modern science—treatises and secrets in agriculture, medicine and the arts. The words fruit, sugar (suker), [illegible] (meem), alcohol, magazine, tariff, [illegible], coffee and cotton, all are from the Arabic. The language, as now spoken, was formed about the seventh century, and is the one probably least changed since that period.

Newspapers are now published in it, and an edition of the story of "Robinson Crusoe" was recently announced in the same tongue. The Turkish language is not, as many suppose, the same as the Arabic. It is of Tartar origin; but, with the Persian, is now written in the same characters. It also possesses a great and interesting literature, including works in history, geography, astronomy, mathematics, etc., some of them translated from English text-books on those subjects.

A New Hampshire farmer is reported to have threshed with a flail two bushels of wheat for seed. These two bushels were sown in the same field and with the same conditions as seven bushels of machine threshed seed. They were found to yield one-third more per bushel than the machine threshed. There is a very general opinion that machine threshed wheat is somewhat injured for seed. If such injury is anything like the extent indicated by this experiment, it becomes a matter of much importance."

The New York Herald says that Sumner's course in regard to San Domingo is the "most unreasonable kink he ever had in his head."

CITY ADVERTISEMENTS.

Salmon Street.

WHEREAS, THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE City of Portland deeming it expedient to extend the street known as Salmon street from the center line of Twelfth street to the center line of the [illegible] did on the first day of [illegible] appoint the undersigned, City Surveyor to survey [illegible] and establish, mark the boundaries and make [illegible] containing a plat of said proposed street and its boundaries; and said Surveyor having filed his report with plat, March 8, 1871, which said report has been adopted by Ordinance No. 974, entitled, "An Ordinance adopting the report of the City Surveyor in the matter of the extension of Salmon Street."

Now, therefore, all persons interested are hereby notified that the Common Council has appointed E. D. Shattuck, H. D. Green and A. P. Hamilton, Viewers, to view said proposed extension of damages and benefits, said Viewers to meet for that purpose at the Auditor's office at 10 o'clock A. M., April 5, 1871.

The following lots, each thirty feet in width, will have to be appropriated, viz.:

Between the north and center lines of Salmon Street: a lot nineteen feet in length, lying between the center line of Twelfth street and the west line of a certain tract owned by J. H. D. Gray, and containing five hundred and seventy square feet.

A lot one thousand one h
